As another month passes, I am continually amazed by God's work at GILH. The passion and talents of our students, paired with the way they live out our core values each day, create a culture that allows us to grow academically, socially, and spiritually together.

From Honor Band and Honor Choir to National Honor Society inductions, athletic achievements, and everything in between, our students continue to shine both in and out of the classroom. As we gather each day in fellowship, it is truly inspiring to watch our students support one another.

As we prepare to celebrate Thanksgiving, there are so many things to have gratitude for. I'm grateful for our students, staff, and families who reflect Christ's love in all they do. I pray your Thanksgiving is full of joy, surrounded by those who mean the most to you, as we celebrate His faithfulness.

Lightning SPOTLIGHT

Meet Our TEACHERS

Mr. Daniel Gibson, a Heartland Lutheran graduate, teaches Algebra 1, Geometry, Biology, Chemistry, and Anatomy. Mr. Gibson has taught at several Lutheran schools before making his way back to Grand Island in 2024. He recently won first place in a Backyard Ultra race that was held in O'Neill, NE. Daniel ran 162.5 miles in 39 hours! One piece of advice he likes to give students is to not be afraid to try. Even when things seem challenging or overwhelming, when you face those struggles head on and persevere, you'll find more success and grow more than if they had come easy at first. He likes to call this "the power of yet." He shares this advice in class when students are struggling. By changing, "I'm not good at this" to "I'm not good at this yet" we see that we have the opportunity to grow.

Student VOICE

Chloe Keasling is a senior at GILH this year. Her favorite part of school so far has been celebrating the successes of the volleyball team this season. Chloe enjoys being a part of the Lightning family and the support she and her classmates receive from their teachers and coaches. What she loves most about Lutheran High is the Christ-centered environment that strengthens her relationship with God and reminds her of the ultimate gift of eternal life with Him in heaven one day.
